Carco Given Two Year Sentence

HEAD-ON COLLISION ON KILN ROAD LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner reported a head-on collision which occurred Saturday night at 8:45 p. m. on the Kiln Road near Bayou Lacroix resulting in injuries to D. C. Cleveland, 37, Hammond, La., who is hospitalized in the Hancock County Hospital.

Cleveland was taken by Fahey Ambulance Service to the local hospital for treatment after his 1945 Ford collided with a 1950 truck towing a 1951 Pontiac driven by Abraham Sweet, 41 year old negro resident of Fenton, who is employed by John Bacon at his country residence in that area. Sweet was returning home from Bay St. Louis where he had that day purchased the G. M. C. truck, and which was towing his car.

About $400 dollars to each vehicle was the estimated damage reported by the sheriff.

Jerry Carco, 40 year old Lakeshore man was given a 2 year sentence Tuesday night when the jury returned to the court room after deliberating for about three hours.

Carco was accused of assault and battery with intent to kill a farmer-neighbor, Horace Garcia, 30, on December 20, when the two men quarrelled over live-stock.

Judge Leslie B. Grant sentenced Carco to serve two years in the state penitentiary.

The defendant's attorney, Cornelius J. Ladner, announced the case would be appealed to the state supreme court. An appeal bond was filed Wednesday.

During the one day trial District Attorney Boyce Holleman introduced testimony of four state witnesses.

Garcia, first state witness said Carco drove to his home in the Lakeshore community about 4:00 in the afternoon of Dec. 20 and quarrelled with him for allegedly permitting his dog to molest Carco's goats.

Garcia said he told Carco he would call the Sheriff when Carco threatened him. He said he started to walk down the road, and that Carco drove ahead of him in his car stopped and approached him with a rifle.

According to his testimony, Garcia said Carco shot him once in the stomach, and then the gun jammed and Carco began beating him over the head with the butt end of the .22 calibre rifle, as he lay helpless in the ditch beside the road.

Dr. Charles Floyd, Gulfport, attended Garcia when he was taken to Memorial Hospital, said Garcia had a bullet wound in the stomach and bruises which indicated a beating about the head and arms. He said the projectile had pierced the victims intestines 12 times.

J. T. Jacobs driver of Fahey's Ambulance, said he picked Garcia out of the ditch, carried him to the hospital and returned the injured man's clothing to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner.

The Sheriff testified he arrested Carco at the scene of the shooting, and said he found two broken pieces of the rifle lying about 30 yards from the injured Garcia. A clip from the rifle was also found by the sheriff lying in a pool of blood near the injured man.

Carco, the lone defense witness testified in his own behalf and gave the following version:

He said Garcia approached him on the road with a knife in his hand and threatened to cut off his head. Carco claimed he shot in self-defense, and when the wounded man kept on coming at him, beat him in self defense with the stock of the rifle.

The jury left the court room at 5:30 p. m. returning at 8:02 to report its verdict, with a recommendation of mercy to the defendant by the court.

The case of the State vs. Emmett Kennedy, Beat Five white man, indicted for receiving stolen goods was continued until the September Term of Court.

Fredericks Pleads Guilty Given Life In Penitentiary

C. OF C. DINNER MEETING HELD ON TUESDAY EVENING

The annual business meeting and buffet dinner given by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday evening at the Hancock County Yacht Club with Henry W. Osolnach, Jr., presiding from the speaker's table.

Members and guests numbered close to one hundred. Introduction by himself from everyone present was asked by Osolnach, after which Mayor John Scaife was called on to give an outline of the Centennial and a few remarks pertinent to the installation of the new street lighting being done by the Commission Council of the City.

At the conclusion of the Mayor's address, chairman of committees on the "Hometown Development Program" were requested by the president to outline plans and progress which they had made.

Mrs. Mae Tindury and Mrs. Edith Dantagan, chairman and co-chair, each gave reports of their endeavors.

August Scaife, Chairman of the Tourist and Industry project outlined his work, followed by Chairman Octave Delph of the Health and Sanitation project. During his talk, Delph touched on the urgent need of members of the Chamber of Commerce and others present, to publicize the need for a favorable vote by the people when an election for the proposed water works is called by the city for installing a Water Works System for the town. He also stressed the need for a substantial insurance policy on the proposed water works, would considerably reduce insurance rates in the town, and as an example the water works of Waveland as a successful venture by that town which has paid off for its people.

Former Mayor Warren Carver was requested to address the gathering, and his brief talk tended to instill the need for progress in bettering the town.

A. C. Dantagan, Board member spoke on the advantages gained by local and widespread advertising, in bringing new residents and potential business to the community.

Hardin Shattuck, manager of the Coast Electric Co., showed a graph which appeared in the current issue of a national magazine, on which a map of the United States showed only two optimistic localities in the entire country, which felt they would not be touched by the current business recession were the Dallas, Texas, and New Orleans through Gulfport Coast area.

EMERGENCY RESPONSE GOOD SAYS OFFICIAL OF BLOOD BANK

George Heitzmann, member of the Board of the Hancock County Blood Bank, reported that better than 25 persons had immediately responded to the emergency call for blood Type O Negative last week.

Among the volunteers three were found with the desired type. Heitzmann said that the bank had completely exhausted this particular type of rare blood, and that the previous week eight pints had been needed to save the lives of two of the residents of this county.

He also said that out of 700 persons previously typed in the county by the Walking Bank, only 15 had the Type O Negative.

A postponement from April 1, until May 7 for a blood drawing in Hancock County was announced by the Board, with the reason for the postponement due to the fact that the Mobile Unit could not fit its schedule for April. This will mean better than a month will pass before the reserve storage for county use can be brought to necessary amounts of "on call blood," so again the members of the Board are stressing that people who have not been typed, please call at the Hancock County Hospital, where a qualified technician will type their blood free of any charge, and the Bank will then have records of possible persons with registered typing in cases of emergency.

Heitzmann speaking for the board asked that thanks be extended through this medium to the many people who responded so quickly to the call last week. He also said that he and James Normand, Chairman of the Board had spent an entire evening until we past midnight telephoning members of the Walking Bank for donations of needed blood.

Heitzmann pointed out that the Walking Bank had, at this time played a vital role, as the names filed had been readily communicated with, no time lost in typing, and blood rushed immediately for the saving of lives.

Judge Leslie B. Grant sentenced Frederick to a life term in the State Penitentiary after a surprise plea of guilty was entered by defense attorneys. The jury was out debating for the 44 year old negro, the murder of Roy Thomas Ladner, 38 year old white grant-grocery owner, also of the Gulfport area, who was killed by a shot fired by Ladner during a fight between the two men in the establishment operated by Ladner.

Called back once by the 11 jurors had agreed on a charge with one juror holding for manslaughter. The panel was ordered back to quarters for further deliberation, and while they were out, the dramatic climax was reached.

Fredericks had been held in the Gulfport jail following his arrest, accused of the fatal slaying of Ladner, after a fight between the two men in the establishment operated by Ladner.

The court would not allow introduction of evidence of a 12 gauge shot gun, which Sheriff Ladner said ballistics experts in the New Orleans Police Identification Bureau had proved was the same gun from which the fatal shot was fired, as Ladner had acquired the gun from the home of Frederick several days following the murder, without a search warrant.

The murder took place about 11:30 p. m. October 27, 1957. Witnesses said Ladner and Frederick had fought over money involved in a gambling game, and Ladner had hit or kicked Frederick in the mouth.

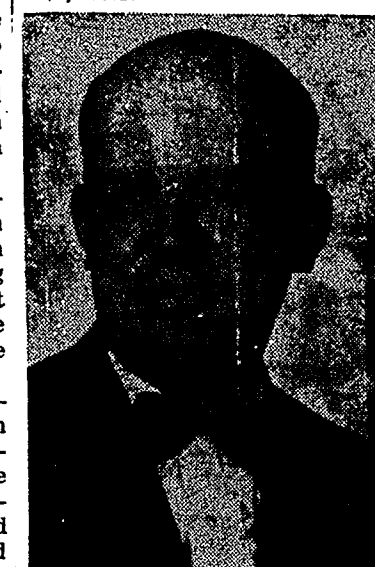

Fredericks was taken back to Gulfport where he was jailed until transported to Parchment to serve the life sentence.

Instructions given the jury by the state held three alternatives in reaching a verdict. Guilty of murder with a mandatory death penalty. Murder with life imprisonment. Guilty of murder, verdict to be passed by the court, which would be life imprisonment.

Defense instructions given by the court would have the jury find the defendant guilty on a reduced charge of manslaughter, on the grounds that the slaying was committed in the heat of passion.

Commuters Protest & N. Announcement

Gulf Coast Commuters Association composed of city of commuters traveling daily from the Gulf Coast from Orleans and other Coast cities sent an angry telegram to John E. Tilford, president of Louisville and Nashville Railroad meeting Wednesday, protesting indignation over the announced plan to consolidate train No. 99 with their train on the latter's time schedule.

Philip Finn, secretary and spokesman for the group, termed the plan a distinct breach of the railroad's long-standing agreement reached with the Gulf Coast Commuters Association in 1947 when the railroad agreed to maintain the train as a commuter train. The plan would stop daily in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

The consolidation of 99 with the L&N simply means that 99 will be eliminated, Finn said. "If that is the case, there is no way to get to work at all on Saturday morning commutes."
